ASES Fellows’ Day at SDSI

June 14th, 2024, San Diego, CA

ASES FELLOWS’ DAY AT THE SAN DIEGO SHOULDER INSTITUTE
Dear ASES Innovation and Strategic Planning Partner:

On behalf of the American Shoulder and Elbow Surgeons (ASES), we invite you to support the ASES 2024 Fellows’ Day at the San Diego Shoulder Institute taking place on Friday, June 14th at the Hilton San Diego Bayfront San Diego, California.

The program will include paper presentations from fellows as well as presentations by established ASES members with guidance for fellows moving forward in their careers.

This year’s program will continue with the changes made for 2023, and will provide additional exposure and ROI to our supporting partners, we have reimagined your support options, converting from a grant-based fellows’ support model to a more traditional event sponsorship format. These changes also reflect improved compliance with ADVAMED.

This dedicated afternoon during the San Diego Shoulder Institute will allow our partners increased opportunities to engage with participating fellows. By adding a Fellows’ Lounge for partner mini tabletops (High boys) and adding networking opportunities into the agenda, we are confident that you will have many opportunities to interact not only with participating Fellows but also with any SDSI attendee who elects to attend the ASES Fellow’s Day.

The symposium itself will feature short presentations by fellows selected for presentation for this program culminating with the Robert H. Cofield, MD, Award for the best clinical paper and the Richard J. Hawkins, MD, Award for the best basic science paper. Note: This year’s awards will be presented during a post symposium reception in the Fellows’ Lounge.

The ASES goal is to have every fellowship program send their fellows to present research completed during their fellowship year. This is an excellent opportunity to expose young surgeons that clearly showed passion and interest for the study of shoulder and elbow surgery to the orthopaedic community. This unique opportunity will serve as an educational and networking venue for graduating fellows to present their research, further orthopaedic knowledge, and interact with experts in the field.

We look forward to having you join us to support this important event!
